Leasing as an option for your network?

Many businesses have for a long time taken advantage of leasing as an option instead of purchasing items such as vehicles, office space and even copy machines. But have you ever considered leasing as an option for your computer equipment? .

Leasing has become a popular way for businesses to obtain the technology they need without the heavy capital outlay. Leasing gives companies the option of obtaining new, up to date technology every 3 to 4 years without putting a strain on working capital. Plus there are several tax advantages to leasing versus buying. These tax advantages should be discussed with a tax professional. In most cases soft costs can be included in the lease, such as labor and software, again conserving capital resources for other operating expenses. If you have been contemplating a technology upgrade but have been worried about the expense. Please call Wizard and we would be happy to show you some leasing options from our financial partners

How to decide what data to back up

There are many ways you can unintentionally lose information on a computer. A child playing the keyboard like a piano, a power surge, lightning, floods. And sometimes equipment just fails.

If you regularly make backup copies of your files and keep them in a separate place, you can get some, if not all, of your information back in the event something happens to the originals on your computer.
